

2012 MID-AMERICA SAND DRAG SERIES PRESENTED BY NSDN & TROWER RACING

RACE 2 RECAP

The 2012 Mid-America Sand Drag Series continued on to race two for the BAD Nationals at Thunder Valley Sand Drags in Grain Valley, MO. The Kansas City-area crowd was treated to some excellent on track action with racers making the trip from Oklahoma, Texas, and the east side of Missouri. This was a unique event as the point series leaders held on in all four of the classes. Terry Glasscock used a semi-final finish in Top Eliminator to stay ahead of Jeff Sieg, Marc Luce, and Race 2 Winner Mike Smith in the standings. Texas racer John Acker kept up his winning ways as he backed up his Oklahoma win with another one in Missouri. John's win gives him a sizable lead over Tim Feuerhelm heading into the second half of the season. The most up in the air point series category certainly is the Pro ATV category. Race 1 Winner Luke Martin lost early at Thunder Valley, but held on to a five point lead over his father James, Oklahoma racer Danny Travis, and KC local Charlie Curtis. The next event for the Mid-America Sand Drag Series will be the Show-Me Fall Nationals on September 21-22 at Thunder Valley Sand Drags in Grain Valley, MO.
