

2012 MID-AMERICA SAND DRAG SERIES PRESENTED BY NSDN & TROWER RACING

RACE 4 RECAP

The 2012 Mid-America Sand Drag Series finished off its Inaugural season with a great showdown at Atoka Motorsports Park in Atoka, OK. The Top Eliminator class saw five different racers with a shot at the title heading into the event. When the dust settled, it would be Jeff Sieg winning both the event and the championship. The Pro 1 Cars title was all but crowned heading into the final race. The only question was could John Acker sweep the 4 race series. He would come up two rounds short as Glenn Swanner defeated him in the semi-final round, however Acker would be the 2012 MASD Pro 1 Cars Champion. Without question, the most thrilling championship battle was in the Pro ATV category. With the Top 6 racers having a chance at the title, it was certainly anybody's ball game. As the semi-final round came up, only two racers still had a shot at the title with incoming point leader Luke Martin and Race 3 Winner Mollie Eads still in contention. When that round was over, both would be eliminated from competition, which crowned Martin as the 2012 MASD Pro ATV Champion. All in all, the Inaugural season for the Mid-America Sand Drag Series can be termed a success with stellar turnouts at each event. Plans are already in motion for the 2013 Mid-America Sand Drag Series.
